

COVID-19 ADH Guidance for Employers

The ADH is monitoring Arkansans with any possible exposure to COVID-19. Depending on travel history or exposure to people with confirmed COVID-19, some individuals you employ may be placed under home quarantine. If the employee does not develop symptoms of COVID-19 prior to the date listed in the letter, they will be free to resume normal activities, including school or work.

Employers should tell their employees to:

Wash their hands frequently.

Cover their coughs or sneezes.

Stay home if they are sick.

Call their doctor if they are worried about being sick.
